LA Metro's Laura Cornejo Inspires Students to Rethink how Transportation Impacts Our Communities

By: Alex Sang-O Kim, USC

Do you believe that transportation has the power to change our community?" asked Laura Cornejo, Deputy Executive Officer at Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (Metro), as she began her highly anticipated presentation on January 30th, 2019 at the USC campus to a standing room only audience of students and transportation practitioners, centering on the future of transportation in Los Angeles.

California DMV Adds a Few Words About Greenhouse Gas Emissions to Driver's Handbook

The California Driver Handbook is, for better or worse, one of the main source of information drivers have about how to safely and legally drive a car in this state. At some point, the department of Motor Vehicles added a short section to it on "green driving" to provide information about driving practices that help "maximize fuel efficiency."

Free Parking: Is it the Secret Ingredient in NYC's Traffic Problem?

After floundering for more than a decade, it seems 2019 may finally be the year New York approves a congestion pricing plan. Not only is the governor behind it, but a growing number of state lawmakers say they support charging drivers a fee to enter Manhattan's business district, spurred by worsening gridlock on city streets and a cash-strapped public transit system in crisis.

Buses are a Better Substitute for Late Night Rail than DSbsidized Ride-hail Trips

In 2016, the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority

WMATA) cut late night rail service in order to increase time for track maintenance. WMATA General Manager Paul Wiedefeld floated the idea of partnering with ride-hail companies such as Uber and Lyft to make up for these service gaps. This is not a realistic solution for people who rely on late night rail service.

T3e Webinar: Preparing Students for Careers that Use New Transportation Technologies Wednesday, February 27, 2019 11:30 am - 12:30 pm Pacific

T3e Webinars are brought to you by the Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS) Professional Capacity Building Program (PCB) of the U.S. Department of Transportation's (U.S. DOT) ITS Joint Program Office (JPO). The purpose of this webinar series is to provide a platform for students to share their research findings. References in this webinar to any specific commercial products, processes, or services, or the use of any trade, firm, or corporation name is for the information and convenience of the public, and does not constitute endorsement, recommendation, or favoring by the U.S. DOT.

Dr. Robert Feldmaier, Director of the Center for Advanced Automotive Technology at Macomb Community College (MCC), will present on automotive technology information provided to future automotive technicians at MCC. Dr. Feldmaier will relate how the rapidly changing automotive technologies, including the new technology that will be added to Advanced Driver Assistance Systems (ADAS) to improve driver and passenger safety, continuously present challenges to educators.

All T3e webinars are free of charge; register below.

METRANS Spring 2019 Speakers Series: Leadership as Improvisation - 2.0! Wednesday, February 27, 2019 12 pm - 1:30 pm Pacific USC - DML 240

What do actors and business leaders have in common? They both need to improvise. This workshop series inspires and empowers participants to create positive change in their lives, their communities, and the world. "Leaders today are operating in organizations that face tremendous uncertainty, an accelerated pace of change, and disruption. The days of stable and predictable organizations are, for the most part, behind us," says Geffner. "Willingness to experience discomfort and learn continuously are essential. Improvisation, which comes from the discipline of drama and theater, is designed to put people in situations in which they must be present, feel vulnerable, and learn in the moment."

Distinguished Speaker:

Carol J. Geffner, Ph.D., Professor of the Practice of Governance, Management, and Policy at the USC Sol Price School of Public Policy

Women Changing Transportation: The Mentorship Program Applications Due: February 27, 2019

Transit Center is thrilled to announce their brand-new Women Changing Transit mentorship program! This program aims to connect women transit professionals with women leaders in transit to serve as mentors to help guide, advise and grow in their careers.

This year-long mentorship program is open to applicants who identify as women, as gender queer, or non-binary, and who are in the first 10 years of their career, in any facet of the transportation field. The multidisciplinary nature of this mentorship is intended to support and enhance connections and relationships across public/private/non-profit lines.

For questions, email Ashley Pryce at apryce@transitcenter.org.

ENO Center for Transportation Webinar:
A Fast-Changing Mobility Landscape - Transit Leaders' Top Priorities
Thursday, February 28, 2019 1 pm - 1:30 pm Pacific

To better understand the effects of demographic, technological, and cultural changes, Transdev, an international private-sector transport operator, commissioned a survey by Ipsos, a global market research firm, to gauge the challenges transit agencies face looking forward and their plans and areas of focus over the next three years. The survey of transit officials began with an open-ended question about their primary concerns, followed by specific questions regarding their attitudes towards the deployment of new technology, partnerships, and improvements in the passenger experience, among others. Eno prepared a summary of the results in context with other studies and statistics relating to transit in the twenty-first century.

12th Annual UCLA ITS Downtown Forum:
From Public Transit to Public Mobility
March 1, 2019 9 am - 5 pm Pacific
Japanese American National Museum - Aratani Central Hall
100 N. Central Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90012

The 12th UCLA Institute of Transportation Studies Downtown Forum grapples with the public sector's response to the dual trends of emerging new mobility services and declining public transit ridership.

What does the increasing role of private mobility options in cities mean for transportation agencies, public transit providers, cities, and the traveling public? Should innovation be encouraged, quashed, or managed? Many regions in California are making big investments in public transit to create a viable alternative to driving; are these burgeoning new services a threat or opportunity for these investments?

The 12th Annual Downtown Forum will explore implementation of the strategies discussed at the October 2018 Arrowhead Symposium, a 3-day in-depth examination of what's happening in urban mobility amidst an inundation of new options, to how public agencies are adapting to accommodate, manage, and incorporate, and compete with new options while continuing to serve the public interest.

3 Revolutions Policy Conference: Shared - Autonomous - Electric
March 18-19, 2019 9:00 am - 5:30 pm Pacific
UC Davis Conference Center, 550 Alumni Ln. Davis, CA 95616

The 3 Revolution Policy Conference is the only major conference that addresses policy solutions for vehicle automation, shared mobility, and electrification. Last year's 3 Revolutions Policy Conference sold out, with more than 350 attendees.

This year, we're thinking bigger. Not just about crowd size (although we did reserve a slightly larger room!), but also about impact. We're convening everyone with a stake in transportation—representatives of local, state, and national governments, automakers, shared mobility companies, academics, and community advocates—to build a network committed to real policy outcomes.

We invite you to join us in building a path to the future. We need leaders from all sectors to collaborate in designing policies and practices in the best interest of society. Innovation in transportation is sweeping our cities and societies, and we must be prepared. Governments need ongoing and consistent support to hasten the adoption of electrification and shared mobility strategies and to direct automation toward the public interest. Together, we can help.

Ghost Cars and Fake Obstacles: Automated Security Analysis of Emerging Smart Transportation Systems
Wednesday, April 10, 2019 2 pm - 3 pm Pacific
USC - EEB 132

Transportation systems today will soon be transformed profoundly due to two recent technology advances: Connected Vehicle (CV) and Autonomous Vehicle (AV). Such transformation leads to the creation of a series of next-generation transportation systems which can substantially improve the quality of our everyday lives.

However, this also brings new features and operation modes into the transportation ecosystem, e.g., network connectivity and machine learning based sensing, which may introduce new security problems and challenges. In this talk, Qi Alfred Chen will describe my current research that initiates the first effort towards systematically understanding the robustness of the software-based control in CV and AV systems.

UITP Global Public Transport Summit:
Call for Young Researchers Award Nominations
Submission Deadline: Friday, March 8, 2019
June 9-12, 2019
Stockholm, Sweden

This year, UITP has opted to launch a new Young Researcher Award which will be announced at the upcoming UITP Summit, held in Stockholm, 9-12 June 2019. This awards seeks to highlight and celebrate the work being carried by universities and research centers which have been well received by the public transport community, thanks to their innovation, impact or significance.

The UITP Awards showcase ambitious and innovative public transport projects undertaken in the last two years in cities and regions around the world. These should position public transport as the backbone of urban and local mobility solutions. The UITP Award categories recognize and reward ambitious and innovative practices in five key dimensions that companies and organizations need to address to put in place sustainable urban and local mobility systems. These are: Innovation, Contribution, Transferability, Partnership, and Relevance.

2018-2019 Airport Cooperative Research Program (ACRP):
University Design Competition for Addressing Airport Needs
Submission Deadline: Monday, April 29, 2019

The Airport Cooperative Research Program (ACRP), a program of the Transportation Research Board (TRB) of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, is sponsoring a national competition for universities that engages students in addressing issues relating to airports and the National Airspace System. The Competition builds upon the former FAA Design Competition for Universities which has now become an ACRP program funded by the FAA. The Competition is managed for the ACRP by the Virginia Space Grant Consortium of Hampton, Va.

This Competition challenges individuals and teams of undergraduate and/or graduate students working with faculty advisors at U.S. colleges and universities to consider innovative approaches related to airport issues. Students can win cash prizes for their winning innovative design solutions. First place winners present their work at a national award ceremony. Full details are provided in the competition guidelines.

This Competition focuses on design solutions in the following broad areas: Airport Operation and Maintenance, Runway Safety/Runway Incursions/ Runway Excursions, Airport Environmental Interactions, and Airport Management and Planning. Some specific challenge areas are defined in the Technical Design Challenges section of the guidelines. Students are not limited to the suggested topical areas listed. They are free to propose design solutions based on other topics that fit the four broad challenge areas.
