

Patrick Burgoyne
NYK Ports LLC

Patrick Burgoyne is the President and CEO of NYK Ports LLC, the holding company of Yusen Terminals (YTI) and Ceres Terminals (Ceres).

Patrick joined NYK in May 2008 as Chief Operating Officer at Yusen Terminals, later becoming CEO. Following a decision by NYK Group to combine YTI and Ceres, he became CEO of both companies in April 2013. In this role, Patrick is a member of the NYK Group Americas Board of Directors which oversees NYK Line, Yusen Logistics, YTI/Ceres, Nippon Cargo Airlines, Crystal Cruise, and NYK Ro Ro activities in the region. He also holds various board seats on joint venture companies engaged in the port sector in the U.S. and Canada.

Prior to joining NYK, Patrick spent eight years at Maersk Line and APM Terminals in various operational and staff roles including human resources, line operations, customer service, labor relations, and port operations.

Patrick has over 20 years of experience in the transportation sector, having started his career in 1991 with Sea-Land Service Inc. There he held various operational roles at ports and in-liner shipping activity.

Patrick received his undergraduate degree from Seattle Pacific University and his M.B.A. from University of Southern California, Marshall School of Business. He is a native of Ireland and is married with three children.
