

METRANS LUNCH WITH A PRACTITIONER

Wednesday, February 22, 2017

12:00 PM to 1:30 PM

USC – RGL 100 (Ralph and Goldy Lewis Hall)

RSVP to Nicole Guo at haichaog@usc.edu

Lunch with Steven Mateer

Transportation Planning Manager, L.A. Metro

Steven Mateer is currently a Transportation Planning Manager for the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (Metro). At Metro, Steven is charged with financial analysis and planning for the major highway, transit, and active transportation projects being planned and constructed in Los Angeles County. Steven has also worked on developing the First/Last Mile Strategic Plan for Metro. In addition to working at Metro, Steven worked as a consultant conducting service planning and evaluation for transit providers throughout California. Steven completed his undergraduate degree in Urban Studies and Planning at UCSD and his Master's in Urban Planning at UCLA .

About L.A. Metro The Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority operates the third-largest public transportation system in the United States by ridership with a 1,433 mi² (3,711 km²) operating area and 2,000 peak hour buses on the street any given business day. Metro also designed, built and now operates 98.5 miles (158.5 km) of urban rail service. The authority has 9,892 employees, making it one of the region's largest employers.

Join us for a valuable opportunity to meet and learn from an active transportation practitioner!

Like us on Facebook!

